We have a car we have wanted to buy since last week. Sent information to dealership. Still waiting! Answered all of the questions. Would recommend. Will recommend to my friends and family ! I went to look at the corolla, and overall it was a smooth, relaxed experience. I recommend this business to others looking for cars. Nice folks to deal with. He and his staff greeted us and offered as much knowledge about the vehicle as they knew. Thanks CarGurus for your service. He described the vehicle and said if it wasn't what he said it was he would buy my gas for making the trip. I had to travel 100 miles one way. He also meet me on Sunday because that was the only day I could make the trip. I bought the truck. I would recommend Orange Bear Motors, it's great to deal with honest people. Had more scratches and dents than they said also reading coolant was low and oh they just forgot to fill it up is what I was told. Really just a sketchy place The meager worked with us in negotiating the sale. Just did the signing and got keys. I bought the car. He was thorough, My salesman, Ryan, was very helpful. Unfortunately, his manager tried to add the price of my old trade in to my offer on another car that just came in. When that was fixed, my bank refused to finance it saying it was extremely over priced. I wish I could have those 5 hours back. Back promptly and gave me accurate information on the truck which was not favorable for what I was looking for. I appreciated the honesty from them even though it didn't help them make a sale. I would definitely go back. Thanks I waited a long time to find exactly what I wanted, and GAF topped it with fantastic customer service. This was one of best Perry When I emailed them, Hilary reached out to me instantly telling me it was still available. When I got there the jeep was all cleaned up sitting out front. Jason and Chuck had me on the road in my Jeep in less than an hour. Thanks again guys and I will definitely send people your way!

The staff there were friendly and helpful. I did not find the truck I wanted but sure do wish I will find it with them. Very helpful. But not forthcoming about air conditioning not working Designated as the oneton pickup the 1500 was the halfton and the 2500 was the threequarters ton, the 3500 provided the ultimate heft and muscle for towing up to 16,000 pounds. The twodoor pickup was available with rearwheel or 4wheel drive, and was powered by either a 5.9 V8, a 5.9 turbodiesel, or the more powerful 8.0 V10. Dodge claimed all the Ram pickups had the most cabin space and best towing power of the fullsize pickup class. Unlike the other two Rams, the 3500 was offered with either single or dual rear wheels. Over the years, trim names change somewhat, but basically came in a base now the ST, powerequipped SLT, or the luxurious Laramie, which was more oriented towards ride comfort in terms of offering leather seats, a power drivers seat, and dualzone climate control. A year later, the first fullsize fourdoor pickup was introduced with the Quad Cab, featuring wideswinging rearhinged doors for easy access. While the Ram pickup was the first in its segment to offer standard 4wheel ABS brakes, the 3500 comes only with rearwheel ABS. Side curtain airbags, also an industry first, are optional. A Hemi V8 appeared in 2003, along with a major overhaul to the Ram lineup to make it more competitive and regain its oncedominant status in the market. The other engine option was the 5.9 turbodiesel, which had slowly gained horsepower ratings to reach a maximum of 325 in 2006. In 2007, this diesel engine is replaced by a 350hp 6.7 liter turbodiesel I6 and a new 6speed automatic transmission. A Mega Cab version of the Ram 3500 arrived in 2006, with a focus on passenger comfort. Available only with the short bed, it devotes space to a segmentleading 44.2 inches of front and rear legroom, with rear seats that recline and fold flat.http://solentpodiatry.com/jackv1940/web/content/images_uploaded/carrefour-movil-manual-de-usuario.xml

With the Mega, Dodge has clearly begun marketing consumers wanting a combination of a powerful workhorse with a comfortable family car. Other than that this has been a great truck. I only drive this truck occasionally due to the fact I drive a company truck. Beautiful vehicle. I love cruising with this reliable truck. With its LED day driving lights, spray in bed liner, goose neck, backflip fibermax tonneaux cover, stainless steel bed caps, bed side rails and tie downs, as well as his LED back lights he is an awesome good looking truck with the option to pull a house. The dealership offered the best price I could find for this low mileage car, and were friendly and helpful in the process. My truck is a single rear wheel, long box, 4x4 in Laramie trim and came with the Aisin PTO transmission. The truck does everything exceptionally startling with towing, to interior space and comfort, fit and finish. I bought it new and it has not had any problems. I look forward to many more miles and memories in this truck! We looked at a couple vehicles and did not purchase as I wanted to shop around mainly due to my skeptical nature and expectation of finding better vehicles and deals elsewhere. After i visited at least 7 dealers and drove over 10 trucks I ended up back at 355 auto as it was clear their inventory was as advertised and pricing very competitive. Many vehicles look great on internet pics but upon 1st hand inspection and test drive are far from advertised and quite frankly junk. Just because a vehicle is used doesnt mean it should be trash. 355 inventory is as advertised and no xxxxxx business with the staff. Michaelsales was a very respectful young man who did a good job showing pickup truck vehicles and following up with me. Frankmgr was completely transparent with the truck I was interested in and feel like the deal was very fair for a good condition older vehicle. In fact, I had a couple concerns that Frank had addressed immediately without hesitation which turned out very minor and corrected with zero hassles.

I am not one to write reviews but in this case was so very impressed with the staff at this dealership, the inventory is really good and I trust that my son has been put into a safe and reliable truck. I would recommend to anyone to check these guys out if youre in the market for a used vehicle. Thank you 355 North The Tradesman is a little plane but there are enough options to make it a comfortable truck to drive. Or pull whatever you need, and do it with comfort and style. The Cummins 6.7 Diesel is a living legend in reliable power plants in the trucking, boating and RV business. Prev Next View All What appears to be the last remaining 2018 Ram 3500 Laramie that you can buy brand new with a manual transmission has apparently been languishing on a dealer's lot in Pennsylvania for more than six months. Folks, I am crestfallen. Advertisement I've been tearfully rocking myself to sleep every night since we heard America's lastever brandnew stickshift Cummins diesel pickup trucks would be sold this year. Shockingly, people who can actually afford these vehicles don't seem to share my affinity for them. This is the Last Year You Can Buy a New FullSized Pickup Truck With a Manual Transmission The 2018 Ram 2500 will be the last big truck you can buy with a manual transmission. Weitzmann did some research on how many similar machines were left on lots around the country.

As he shared with me in an email "I searched our DealerConnect VIN Locator software, which shows me all of the unsold new inventory within a radius up to 3,000 miles, and I verified that is the only 2018 3500 Laramie with a manual transmission. There are a some 200 odd manual 2500s left, and about 50 manual 3500 Tradesman and SLT trucks, but this is the last new manual Laramie 3500 in North America." Advertisement Indeed, it's worth noting that this is a very good indicator that we're looking at the last of its kind, as our own professional car sales expert Tom McParland explained, noting "Dodge's internal dealer inventory search is pretty accurate. The only way it would be off is if there was by some chance a new car not being sold by an FCA dealer." That is all to say, while this is not the last manual Ram fullstop, it looks like it's the last luxuriouslyappointed one. Advertisement The Laramie is sort of a sweet spot in Ram's vast catalog of trim levels. Enthusiasts, myself included, usually say we want the most basic flavor when it comes to utility rigs in Ram's lineup, that would be a Tradesman. But after test driving quite a few new trucks in my years at Jalopnik, I don't mind admitting that some creature comforts are nice. This one in particular with the chrome grill, simple polished wheels, 32 gallon fuel tank and sixspeed transmission. man. Just, man. It looks righteous. Advertisement Of course, buying a truck like this just for the looks would be pretty obnoxious. This vehicle is over 260 inches fronttoback and weighs about as much as an aircraft carrier. But if you do need to do heavy lifting, the spec sheet says the truck can pull almost 25,000 pounds and take more than 4,000 in its cargo bed. Caveat emptor though the 6.7liter Cummins diesel engine is derated when it's paired with a manual. It's only tuned to make 350 horsepower and 660 lbft of torque, while the same engine hooked up to an automatic puts down a claims 370 hp 800 lbft.

Advertisement Despite the fact that it is much cooler and more fun to use, reality is that the G56 manual just isn't as astoundingly robust as the Aisin automatic. Still, if it were me, stick is life. I would rather get the manual and see if I could strengthen it with the heavier clutch or something.
