I recently purchased a pc link cable and dls 2002 software. The problem that I am having is setting up everything and also it will not detect my panel. The panels that are listed are the PC1555 and the PC1555 MX. It will not auto detect mine either.

My panel say PC1555 ua186. My instruction manual that came with it says PC1555 CP01 version 3.2 DLS 2002 and higher. Can someone please help me.I hate to say it, but you may have to grit your teeth and program the system manually. Truth be told, the DLS software isnt really any more intuitive than the manual programming process, and is really intended for setting up multiple duplicate systems. Its not really intended for enduser system management. You can try emailing DSC and explaining your particulars, and they may send you the correct version of the software. They are generally pretty helpful folks.Does anyone know if this system is as good or comparable to other systems It has 10 zones on board upgradeable to 26. I also have a Napco 1632. Trying to decide which one to put in. Thanks I have the PC5010 board. I have the basic 8 zone LED keypad. I have one wireless door contact sensor and a wirless smoke detector. The batteries in each appear to be fully charged. I recently replaced the main panel backup battery. I can fix the zone 8 date and time problem, but I am confounded by the zone 7 trouble problem. When I press 7 again, no zone lights come on. When I press 7 again, no zone lights come on. When I press 7 again, zone light 2 comes on. The manual states that this indicates Wireless keys with low batteries. Heres the weird part I dont have any wireless keys. Any help would be greatly appreciated. We welcome your comments and. Questions of a Do It Yourself nature should be Worksheets Click Create. Click Start Auto Detect Process. Their tech support sucked as well. Make you feel like a dumb ass for even asking a question. DSC DLS can be extremely frustrating if you dont know what the terms mean. It also depends on if you are using dls 5 or dls 2002. 5 is the newest one if Im not mistaken. I would recommend finding the programming manual for the particular system you are trying to work on. DSC has the BEST manuals in the industry, the front half is literally the entire programming field broken down into its simplest parts and explained in detail. It would be beneficial to reference until you get the hang of things. Hope this helps and good luck. Downloading Software.
