other things. My handlebars dont break anymore. Ive heard that coil in the ignition could be the source but I had my ignition looked at when they were trouble shooting my cylinder issue. The shop said my ignition wasnt the issue but that my pin was bent. Every time my bike gets worked on my spark plugs magically have to get changed, Im wondering if there is some kind of electrical issue to the cylinder itself that may be causing it to not fire. Does anyone have any experience with this.
