Amazon calculates a product's star ratings based on a machine learned model instead of a raw data average. The model takes into account factors including the age of a rating, whether the ratings are from verified purchasers, and factors that establish reviewer trustworthiness. See All Buying Options Add to Wish List Disabling it will result in some disabled or missing features. You can still see all customer reviews for the product. The quality of this item appears to be good, but not sure how well it will last yet. It blends in good with the chrome license plate. As far as camera resolution goes, its good not HD or anything and serves its purpose well with my doubledin stereo touchscreen. This is not a night camera either, so whatever your reverse lights light up, thats what you will be able to see when you back up. Reviewed in the United States on February 6, 2011 I had this for about 3 weeks now and it was very good till I wash the car and the lens got fogged up, I removed the 2 screws holding the lens cover and clean it up and it is good again but I dont know why the water got in since it has an oring seal. Boyo VTL400 Chrome Plastic Housing Bar Type CCD Camera Please try again later. Translate all reviews to English It looks good, nothing really to rave about though. Joe Reweiver 5.0 out of 5 stars I chose this camera because of the wire since I had read that some of the 2.4ghz cameras are prone to occasional interference. A lot of consumer gadgets share the same frequency. <http://www.mecaniquekd.ca/upload/cost-accounting-manuals.xml>

The only disadvantage of the wire is having to run wire through the car to the front. I read elsewhere that the wireless version of this camera the housing looks identical to this one does not weather well. The other reviewer at Crutchfield said the chrome dulls and flakes and the set screws rust but the camera continued to work fine. Well see how it weathers. If it dulls Ill just paint it the same color as the car. I also read somewhere that a person had problems with the little white connector that ties the camera to long wire that is run to the front. I cut the connectors off and soldered the three wires together. Please try again later. Please try again later. J. Stevens 4.0 out of 5 stars I checked behind the stereo for connection issues but all was correct. I then checked the connection 3ft from the camera itself. I took a small travel shampoo bottle and drilled two holes and placed the two wire ends into the bottle and connected them. I sealed the lid and glued around the wire with waterproof glue. Su angulo de vision es amplio por lo cual hay que tener cuidado porque los objetos parecen que estan mas lejos. Su color niquelado hace que se vea elegante y no tiene un aspecto plastico como otros objetos. Please try again later. Please try again later. Teresa 4.0 out of 5 stars My husband loves it and is constantly making people get in his truck to check out the clarity and detail. After watching him use his for the last couple of months, I want one too. Please try again later. Please try again later. Michael Juhl 5.0 out of 5 stars Please try again later. I am also tapping the bluetooth power from that line so I'm afraid that there won't be enough power. I'm no electrical guru so I don't know how the current flows. I assume I can tap all the grounds together too. Help please. This is what I'm talking about. Please let me know if this will work. Top left from Boyo Top Right for Bluetooth Bottom Left D3 harness You need to extend the wire which is what I did and tap into the red wire on the D3 harness. This will turn on the camera only when the car is on. You need to extend the wire which is what I did and tap into the red wire on the D3 harness.
