If they dont match, resetup the printer configuration. The software that opens the main window of Canon CUPS PS Printer Utility is installed in the following folder. If this happens, first quit all applications or restart the operating system, then start the product. If you select the wrong PPD, the printer driver will not operate correctly. If these settings and the device options installed in the printer do not match, the printer driver will not operate correctly. Also, if you specify the staple position of a landscape document stored in the User Inbox from the printer control panel, the actual staple position of the output document may not correspond with the orientation specified. However, the document is printed with the correct settings. In this case, click the Delete Job button in the dialog box. In this case, first preview the document, and then print it. As the result, the page to be printed on the inserted sheet will be printed on the front side of the back cover sheet. For example, if you print 3 copies and select the Collate option with Staple option, you get 3 copies stapled together. If this happens, adjust the paper size slightly. The Printer Pool function is available in Mac OS X 10.3 or later. For more information about the Printer Pool, refer to the Help provided with your Mac OS. Before installing, confirm that your computer has enough free disk space. If you configure settings using both print dialog boxes, the document may not print correctly.

If the printing results are not per the settings configured in any one of the print dialog boxes, try configuring the settings using the other print dialog box. To avoid this problem, print using paper sizes within the limits of the custom paper sizes supported by the devices. If this happens, cancel printing from the control panel of the printer. If printing cannot be started by clicking the print button, disconnect and reconnect the USB cable to the printer. If this happens, output the stored secured print job. If you still cannot print the other print jobs, reprint them from the computer. If this happens, delete the remaining jobs in the print queue and print them again. If this happens, delete the printer queue and add the printers again. If this happens, restart the application. If this happens, open the file in the application you used to create it and print the file from there. If this happens, you can access the Online Help from the Help Viewer. If this happens, reprint the print job after checking the USB cable connection to the printer. In this case, specify a longer timeout period or select Off in the Error Time Out setting under Printer Settings on the control panel of the printer. If this happens, verify that the correct long paper size is specified, and then reprint the print job. If the region is not set correctly, the printer driver may not operate correctly. In this case, only settings for options that are actually attached to the printer can be enabled.
